

Hello Adam.

I meant to send this note a few weeks ago to express my appreciation for the job you and your team at King Systems did planning and installing all the various components and equipment at my house. From upgrading the wireless with new router and access points.....the recommendation of a new Internet Service Provider, to the extensive discussion we had on what type of security cameras I should get, and ultimately their installation.....and the rewiring of my audio/video system..... everything was handled seamlessly. I certainly enjoyed Dave Dickerson doing the majority of the installation. Very professional and accommodating. I have to make comment as well to how much attention was given to detail for the entire project. And as important as the planning and overall execution was to me the follow up and service you and your team provided, and continue to provide, after the project was completed was exceptional. There was never an issue getting answers or service after completion. On any future projects I may have, rest assured Adam, King Systems will definitely be part of my plans.
